

We are a bilingual country that respects both French and English equally. When on council I will explore with my colleagues the technologies that can enhance service to the French speaking community.

Thank you for your question.

Dino Chicchitano